
Jerry Weber Consulting

Helping you lead the way through challenges and change.

Jerry Weber Consulting provides executive coaching and process improvement for health care professionals, senior leaders, and entrepreneurs. Jerry is on a mission to make things better for leaders and teams in the workplace. He has a particular passion to prepare and guide executive leaders through major transitions and challenges. His end goal is always to improve the individual and the system in a way that results in a better work environment for everyone.

Background

From 2007 to 2017, Jerry worked in BC's public health sector as a Corporate Director and Senior Consultant for executive teams, operational leaders and staff in order to continuously improve the delivery and quality of their services.

Initially trained as an Intensive Care Nurse, Jerry blended his work in health care with an appreciation for artistry in woodwork. After a season as a professional furniture maker, he advanced through various management roles at a kitchen cabinet manufacturing plant.

Jerry's unique combination of scientific learning, creative skill, and management experience gives him special insight into improving systems and empowering leaders.
